International Institute of Business Studies Organized a Corporate Mentoring and Career Counselling Session "Career In Business Analytics" in Seminar Hall 1, on 7th December 2021 From 2.30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Mr. Manoranjan HP, Placement Officer of IIBS organised the session with Mr. Pavan Kumar AG (Staff SDET, NET SKOPE, EX-Navi, Nutanix [Calm Acq, Akamai, IBM Labs]) to highlight the business analytics role and responsibilities.

The Speaker Mr. Pavan Kumar A G Covers the Following Areas:

The future of the business analytics industry. : See where the industry is going and the aspects of business Analytics that will become more prominent in the coming years, there is no fixed method to start a career in business analytics. However, taking up the PGP Data Science and Business Analytics Course by Great Learning can be a great start.

Languages Required for Business Analytics: python, Tableau, SQL, R

Python:- Python has a very regular syntax as it stands out for its general-purpose characteristics. It is the ability to create and manage data structures quickly, Python alone is sufficient to apply data science in some cases. Tableau – Tableau is the most popular and advanced data visualization tool in the market. Tableau is an end-to-end data analytics platform that allows you to prep, analyze, collaborate, and share your big data insights.

R: R is very important in data science because of its versatility in the field of statistics. The "R" name is derived from the first letter of the names of its two developers, Ross Ihaka and Robert Gentleman. R is powerful and faster than other languages. Statistical Language – R used in biology, genetics as well as in statistics is open-source software and is completely free to use making it easier for individual professionals or students starting out to learn.

SQL: SQL is the top requirement to excel in the field of data science's data analysts write scripts to analyze data and perform specific data queries' for data analysis refers to the database querying language's ability to interact with multiple databases at once, as well as its use of relational databases.

Learning and Importance Of Business Analytics

These are the ones who will work with CEO's and CTO's and it was good we can come to know that what all the certificate courses we have to do before taking business analytics, and how business analytics is important, how much the value is in society, how the business analytics is matching trend, And finally, business analytics is ruling IT companies Uses of business Analytics, blockchain, and supply chain performance.

Challenges:- Business analytics can be possible only on a large volume of data. It is sometimes difficult to obtain a large volume of data and not question its integrity.

Job opportunities: A massive demand in the job market (both in India and internationally), Business Analytics careers are the ideal choice for learners. According to Glassdoor, the Corporate Mentoring Session By R. Mohammed Irfan (Founder of Skill Drivers)

Mr. R Mohammed Irfan conducted Corporate Mentoring Session for the students. He is a panel member of Recruitment Process in Top MNCs such as Accenture, Wipro and Google and he is having fifteen years of Corporate Experience and Published a Book "Public Speaking is easy". It was a great learning opportunity for students as they got detailed information on Inspiration, Preparations, Actions and Gratitude. The Two hours long Session was informative, conceptual and had a practical sense of relatability. The first Session mainly based on believe in your Dreams, build the belief. The second half session was all about the tools and strategies used for public speaking and the concluding session was all about kaizen.

Then speaker highlighted the importance of attending the various skill-based sessions in the college and how it helps to get placed in a well-known company. He emphasized that the activities of IIBS are such designed to equip the students with skill sets that are valued for professional growth in the corporate world. Students were informed of the different activities of the placement cell and how it would help them to bridge the gap from campus to corporate life and then followed by a Q and A .
